GLOBAL FUTURES STUDIES & RESEARCH

World Futures Day: March 1 at 12 noon (Brisbane AEST)

Title: Australasian Climate Futures: A Conversation

Australian node hosted by the University of the Sunshine Coast (USC)

Meeting via Zoom: details to be released on MP website.

World Futures Day is a 24-hour procession of conversations that move around the world beginning in New Zealand on March 1, 2021 at Noon (NZ time). This will be the eighth year that futurists and the general public will conduct this 24-hour, round-the-world conversation on the future on March 1st at 12 noon in whatever time zone they are in. Each year, total strangers discuss ideas about possible worlds of tomorrow in a relaxed, open, no-agenda conversation. Futures research is shared, collaborations are created, and new friendships are made.

The Millennium Project, a global foresight participatory think tank, will host this conversation on the future in collaboration with the Association of Professional Futurists (APF), Humanity+, UNESCO's Global Futures Literacy Network, the World Academy of Art and Science (WAAS), and the World Futures Studies Federation (WFSF).

Anybody can pull up a cyber-chair at this global table and join the discussion. The ZOOM address will be available a day before the event and can be found at this LINK.

So, on March 1 at Noon (AEST), the USC Futures Collective will be hosting a conversation on the topic: Australasian Climate Futures: A Conversation

Presenters will be:

Professor Patrick Nunn (Profile) "Climate Change in Australia and the Pacific: How the Past Can Inform the Future"

Dr Andrew Peters (Profile) "Knowledge past and Knowledge future"

Format: Each presenter will speak for about 10 minutes and then respond to questions.

Moderators will be: Dr Marcus Bussey and Dr Barbara Bok.
